CAREER OBJECTIVES

I am a motivated and detail-oriented fourth-year student in the Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery program at the University of Nairobi. I have a passion for clinical medicine and scientific inquiry. I want to contribute to evidence-based healthcare by engaging in high-quality research. I am currently looking for a position as a data collector in a research setting. This role will allow me to use my medical training, analytical skills, and commitment to accuracy. My goal is to become a physician-researcher. I aim to bridge the gap between clinical practice and scientific progress to enhance patient outcomes and improve health systems in Kenya and beyond.
